HENDERSON COUNTY
PUBLIC SCHOOLS

= Student Success

FROM THE DIRECTOR'S SHELF

School/Library Partnership Benefits Youth

The Henderson County Library and Henderson County Schools have partnered to support increased literacy and educational success by providing all public school students with a library account using their school ID number. This program, called StudentAccess, allows students to check out physical materials owned by the county, instantly download eBooks and digital audiobooks through North Carolina Digital Library and NC Kids Digital Library, and access library databases to assist with school projects.

The library card has long been touted as a gateway to lifelong learning and a long-running American Library Association campaign calls it the 'Smartest Card.' Unfortunately, the traditional policies around obtaining and owning this 'gateway' card can be a barrier for children. The two most prevalent barriers in obtaining a card are transportation to the library and cost of late fees. This card helps break down those barriers by providing students with a card without the need for a parent to bring them to the library to set up the account, and by exempting the accounts from late fees.

The School and Library Systems share the belief that a love of books and learning is a strong foundation for student success. Whether students use their cards at the library to check out a bedtime story, download an audiobook to their smartphone from home, or research in the classroom, they are enhancing their literacy skills and developing a foundation to lead a rich and productive life.

This project was made possible in part by the Institute of Museum and Library Services and the State Library of North Carolina.

Andrea Larsen, Youth Services Tech

I am a Michigan native who is tremendously thankful to be able to call Hendersonville home. The library was my lifeline when we moved here with our very young children and was my first stop before unpacking our moving truck. Many of my dearest friends are those who we've met at storytime! The library provided not only a way to make connections in the community, but also introduced me to the importance of vocabulary and early literacy skills which are the foundation for reading comprehension and success.

To say that working at a library has always been my dream job would be an understatement and to be in the Youth Services Department is icing on the cake. I am so thrilled at this opportunity to be a part of such a wonderful library system! When not at the library, I can be found hanging out with my three active kids, reading, running, homesteading, canning, sewing, Girl Scouting, and just enjoying all the things this area has to offer.

Steve Yang, Circulation Assistant

I recently moved to Henderson County from Hickory this past summer and have been blessed by this job at the library. I have enjoyed my time here in the mountains and look forward to many more years in this area.

I graduated from Fred T. Foard High School in 2008 and went to UNC Chapel Hill where I received my BS in Psychology. Upon graduation I worked at the different Catawba County libraries for about 4 years before moving to Henderson County. The library provides so many services to the community. I am happy to be part of the team that provides these services.

Farewell to Staff

Kathy Kirchoefer

Since arriving at the Henderson County Library five years ago, Kathy Kirchoefer has worked tirelessly to promote early literacy in the library and in our community. During her time here, Kathy has worked to share her knowledge gained from almost 20 years as a Children's Librarian. She has made a lasting impact on our community through numerous library programs and projects like Babies into Books and 1000 Books Before Kindergarten. The Babies into Books initiative has enabled the library to reach new parents and their babies born at Pardee and Park Ridge Hospitals by providing them with a new book and early literacy resources. Library staff will also miss the wonderful birthday cakes, cookies, and other goodies Kathy baked and shared with us during her time here. We wish Kathy well in her retirement!

The Henderson County Public Library is saying farewell to one of its longest-serving employees at the end of the year. Kim Compton, library technical assistant, is retiring after thirty years of service.

Kim initially came to the library as a volunteer in the early 1980s. When the library migrated its card catalog to an automated system, she was hired to do part-time data entry work for the project, a job which led to becoming a full-time employee in 1987 as a Circulation Assistant. Later she moved to a position in the library's Technical Services department, where she has been primarily responsible for receiving and invoicing newly acquired materials as well as processing items in the library's catalog.

Kim is a graduate of Gallaudet University, the only liberal arts college for the deaf, where she earned a degree in Art History. Although she was born deaf, she does not consider her deafness a handicap. She was valedictorian of her high school class, and a dean's list student in college. After graduating, she returned to her home in Hendersonville. Prior to joining the library staff, Kim worked at Flanagan's Printing and at Young Associates, as a commercial artist's assistant.

Kim is an award-winning golfer, having won two tournaments sponsored by the Southeastern Deaf Golf Association. She credits her father with introducing her to the sport when she was just five years old. As a trained artist, she currently enjoys doing pencil sketching and would like to work with chinks once she has more leisure time. She has always enjoyed having a pet, and in recent years acquired Mario, a well-loved service dog, who was succeeded by her current companion, Rigatoni. She enjoys taking walks with Rigatoni, loves reading and learning about history, and visiting museums when she has a chance. The library staff wishes her many joyful experiences in her retirement!

NORTH CAROLINA'S CANDID CRITTERS

Are you an outdoor enthusiast who enjoys the sights and sounds of surrounding wildlife? Do you wonder what lurks in the shadows when you're not looking? Are you curious about the creatures that share our mountain lands? Then this project is for you!

North Carolina's Candid Critters is a statewide camera trap project run by the North Carolina Museum of Natural Sciences in collaboration with the NC Wildlife Resources Commission, NC State University, NC Museum of Natural Sciences, and the Smithsonian. This project is focused on surveying mammals across all 100 counties in North Carolina in order to identify what species are living where, providing information that will be used to enhance management and conservation practices.

The Henderson County Main Library has been selected to be a lending library for camera kits containing all of the necessary equipment you will need to successfully participate in this project.

Kindness Rocks!

Painted rocks have been popping up all around Henderson County and the Kindness Rocks phenomenon is spreading across the world.

The idea is simple— paint a rock with a kind word, message, or image and place it to be found in a public place. If you find a rock you can hide it in a new location to be found again.

Each branch plans on hosting a rock painting event so look for more dates coming soon!

HALLOWEEN

@ the Library

DAY OF THE DEAD

On Sunday, October 29th, Edneyville librarians attended a community festival held at Sugarloaf Elementary to celebrate Día de Muertos, or Day of the Dead, hosted by El Centro of Henderson County, a local resource for the county's Latino residents. Over 400 people attended the cultural celebration that day, featuring local organizations, performers, food, crafts, costumes, and a display of ofrendas, or altars, to pay respects to the deceased.

At the library table, children created linternas de vela, candle lanterns, with iconic skull images, called calaveras, associated with the holiday.

Special Winter Programs

BLUE RIDGE RINGERS CHRISTMAS CONCERT— Friday, December 8th @ 2:30pm, Main Library

The Blue Ridge Ringers, a regional handbell ensemble, will present a concert of Christmas music. This free program is sponsored by the Friends of the Library.

Due to the popularity of this program, tickets will be issued one hour prior to the performance on a first come first served basis. 1 ticket per person; all family or group members should be present to ensure tickets for admittance. Doors open at 2pm.

MUSICKE ANTIQUA CHRISTMAS CONCERT— Monday, December 11th @ 12pm, Main Library

Join Musicke Antiqua for a concert celebrating the Christmas holiday season. Musicke Antiqua performs music from the Medieval and Renaissance through the Baroque and Modern eras, in costume, on replicas of a wide variety of early music instruments, including recorders, double reed instruments, strings, and percussion. This concert will include religious and secular music from the early music eras.

BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU OF ASHEVILLE AND WNC PRESENTS SENIOR SCAMS— Thursday, December 14th @ 2pm, Main Library

Knowledge is the best way to arm yourself or a loved one against scams and schemes such as financial exploitation, fake check schemes, home repair or improvement scams, identity theft, investment schemes, sweepstakes schemes, and many others. The Better Business Bureau will educate, inform, and empower attendees by presenting the Top 10 Most Risky Scams and Top 3 Most Risky by Age Range, as well as discussing the role of the BBB in the marketplace, the services they offer, and how they can help consumers stay safe.

HENDERSON COUNTY WILDLIFE SERIES

Alan Cameron, volunteer with the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission and current board member of the Friends of DuPont Forest, presents a six week wildlife series. Each week, Mr. Cameron will present a PowerPoint slideshow highlighting animals and plants found in Henderson County and the surrounding forest regions. This program is presented in conjunction with the Friends of DuPont Forest and information on the organization will be provided.

NCLA

Collaborate. Innovate. Celebrate.

As a librarian, there are few things as exciting and encouraging as joining together with others in the profession to share ideas, challenge expectations, and affirm the role of libraries in our communities. For four days in October, five library staff members did just that at the 62nd North Carolina Library Association Biennial Conference. Ed Graves and Ashley Wise both received full scholarships to attend the conference. The conference consists of dozens of educational sessions focusing on every aspect of libraries. Lisa Donaldson, Youth Services Coordinator, presented “Thrifty Teen Programming: Developing Popular Teen Programs on a Budget” to a packed room. Library Director, Trina Rushing, joined a panel for the State Library’s “Using Edge: Tips, Tricks, and What’s Next” to discuss Henderson County Library’s success in implementing the Edge Assessment to evaluate technology services. A wonderful time was had by all and each of us returned with plenty of ideas to improve and expand the services we offer to the community.

New NC Live Resources

January of 2018 marks the beginning of a new resource cycle for NC Live. Through NC Live, patrons can access dozens of resources including Consumer Reports, Reference USA, and Automate. Here are some new resource highlights:

Mango Languages offers over 60 languages to choose from. Whether you're planning a trip and want to order octopus like a local, learn business etiquette, or become fluent, Mango's self-guided courses will help you succeed.

Business owners will cheer for Simply Analytics, a web-based mapping application that lets you create professional-quality maps and reports using demographic, business, and marketing data.

Aspiring students can use Gale Testing & Education Resource Center to explore in-depth information on college, graduate, and professional programs, professional training, scholarships, and entrance tests alongside practice tests for entrance exams, certifications, and licensing exams.

2017 Celebration

Twenty five children and their families were honored at the library's first ever 1000 Books Before Kindergarten celebration. The program launched in January and these super readers have already reached the goal of reading 1000 books with their families.

What an amazing accomplishment!

On hand to help congratulate the children were representatives from the United Way of Henderson County, Henderson County Public Schools, Children and Family Resource Center, and Smart Start of Henderson County. All the children received a bag full of goodies and they and their families were treated to a pizza dinner. Pictures of the children will be posted on the wall of fame outside the Children's Auditorium.

Congratulations to our young bookworms!

Local Art Exhibition

Calling all art lovers and artists!

The main branch of the Henderson County Public Library unveiled its art wall, a new space devoted to celebrating local artists and their work. The current exhibit showcases paintings, graphite drawings, and pottery from regional artists and will be viewable through December 30th.

"Hendersonville" by Susan Web Tregay

If you are interested in showing your work in a future exhibit, please visit the Service Desk at the Main Library for submissions guidelines and applications.

The library has always been a gathering place for our community to exchange ideas and explore new topics. This exhibit space brings the talents of our local artists to a place where the public can experience them in their daily lives.

The library plans to rotate the artwork quarterly and is currently looking for new submissions.

Greetings from the Fletcher Branch!

When you walk into our library, we hope you will feel as though you've been greeted by an old friend. Although we are the second largest branch in the county, we strive to not only be a friendly place but a cozy place you can escape to. Whether you want to check out the latest book, read to one of our therapy dogs, work on our current puzzle, or sit and create a craft with your child, Fletcher is the place to be! We believe you will feel like you're in your very own living room with the many nooks and crannies available to curl up with a good book, read the paper, or study for an upcoming test.

Fletcher hosts a variety of programs and activities. Weekly, you can participate in our conversational Spanish class, learn to play Mahjong, or join us for our family storytime. Monthly, we offer job help through both Goodwill Career Connections and the Blue Ridge Literacy Council. We have two monthly book clubs as well as a Writers' Guild. We recently began a Lego Club for "kids" of all ages (0-99). Each quarter, we offer an array of programs such as needle felting, beginning Spanish, lectures on topics like Alzheimer's, and STEAM (science, technology, engineering, arts, and math) programs through Hands On.

With limited staff, volunteers are the heart of our library and help keep us running smoothly and efficiently. If you're interested in volunteering, we'd love to have you join our incredible team.

We truly desire to be an integral part of the Fletcher community. We love being your library. If you haven't been in to the Fletcher Branch in a while (or ever), we hope you will drop by and get to know us. Kate's Park is just beside us and Fletcher Park is just down the road. Come enjoy a day in Fletcher and never stop reading!

Community Health Fair

On October 13th, eleven organizations joined the library for a community health fair. Each organization shared their expertise including healthy aging, mental health, exercise, and nutrition. Attendees learned about programs and resources and received lots of free goodies to help them along the way to a healthy life.
