An Area of Refuge is a location in a building designed to hold occupants during a fire or other emergency, when evacuation may not be safe or possible. Occupants can wait there until rescued by firefighters.

The Indoor Relocation Area is an interior space that can accommodate the occupants of the event and provide the most protection from outside hazards, the most recognizable threat being severe weather.

The Outdoor Assembly Area is an open outside location at least 100 feet from the evacuated facility where occupants temporarily gather following an evacuation in an effort to make sure everyone is out of the building safely. This area should be located away from access points used by emergency vehicles.
